North Pole Express delivers holiday cheer

By FRITZ FREUDENBERGER
The North Pole Express was loaded with the Christmas spirit at Boothbay Railway Village over the first weekend of December. The train took its first seasonal trip Dec. 2 as dozens of families bundled up in the open-air cars or cozied up inside heated ones. Kids wrote letters to Santa, which they delivered in person on the journey. Afterwards, they could enjoy hot chocolate and s'mores by the fire or just explore the decorations around the village. The North Pole Express takes place on Saturdays and Sundays through Dec. 17. The train visits the "North Pole" eight times daily, with the first train at 10:45 a.m. and the last train at 4 p.m.

Cookies, crafts and holiday history draw crowds

By FRITZ FREUDENBERGER

Saturday, Dec. 2 was a busy day for early holiday festivities around Boothbay Harbor as several venues were bustling.

The Congregational Church was filled with cheer for its annual Christmas Fair in Fellowship Hall. The highlight was a delicious array of cookies and other baked goods spread out across multiple tables.

In addition, there was jewelry, knitted goods, handmade crafts, preserves, wreaths and a wide selection of take-home soups. All proceeds from the fair were to go to Community Resource Council's Community Fuel Fund.

Boothbay Region Historical Society Museum also hosted its annual holiday open house, celebrating with vintage decorations, festive foods, an art raffle and more. Shoppers could pick from local historical-themed gifts including books, maps and photographs. And Richard Plunkett, appraiser and owner of The Wizard of Odds and Ends in Alna, was there for appraisals and to talk about collecting.

'Twas a holly jolly Holiday Festival

By LISA KRISTOFF

Friday, Dec. 1, Boothbay Region Garden Club's Holiday Festival was held for year two at St. Columba's. The church parking lot was packed with cars when the festival opened at 10 a.m.

Shoppers were walking out with some of the famed, themed trees. All 35 sold, including the large woodland trees grouping outside the doors. People also bought frozen soups, chowders, chilis, tree decorations, wreaths, themed gift baskets and more.

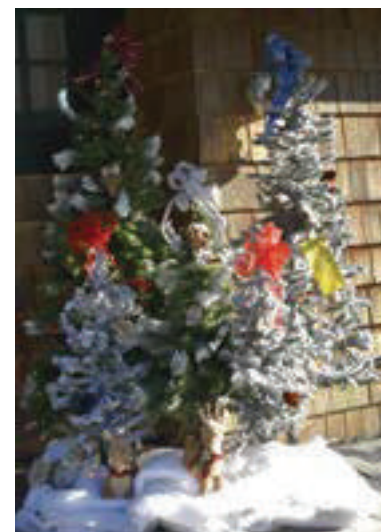

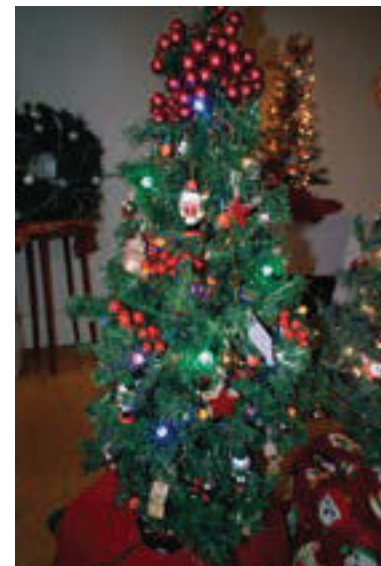

Themed trees were being carried off, along with ornaments, sweets, wreaths, swags, gift baskets, dish and glassware, frozen dinners, centerpieces, edible birdhouses, cement bird baths and stepping or garden stones, candles and candlesticks.

Just under 100 gift baskets were made and, once again, the themes were imaginative: The technology basket included Bluetooth wireless headphones, a color-changing Glow ball, illusion cube infinite fidget and Rubik's cube keychain; Spiderman basket; green tea basket with teapot and teacups; gluten-free basket; and more.

"It was a wonderful festival," said BRGC member Kevin Bowler. "Everyone is very pleased the community came out and helped us raise money for our scholarships and community outreach. The new cookbook was a huge hit and sold very well. There are a few left." If interested, visit boothbayregiongardencub.org

Bowler said any food left over went the Boothbay Community Fridge.
